
The Top Reasons Why Your Business Needs an Employee Assistance Program

1. Decreased health care costs
2. Increased morale and workplace harmony
3. Reduced absenteeism
4. Reduced overall costs
5. Increased productivity
6. Increased responsibility
7. Increased company loyalty
8. Reduced sick leave
9. Improved work performance
10. Decreased health insurance costs

The success of any company depends very heavily on the productivity and work performance of its human resources. The ability to function and perform at a high level consistently is greatly aided by Employee Assistance Programs. The introduction of such programs has been successful in that the results are beneficial for both the employee and the company at large.

Chris Zelasko CEBS
Business Development Manager
Peak Benefit Solutions Inc.
chris@peakbenefitsolutions.com

